The background and purpose:

Countryside Disciples Women (formerly Christian Women's Fellowship) have served God faithfully since the beginning of the congregation in 1940. As women of faith, they provided consistent nurture for their families, the congregation, their networks of influence and involvement in the community, and through their vocations. Many of the current generation of adult women at Countryside were recipients of that nurture and leadership training.

Honoring the values we share with our foremothers, we established a scholarship fund. As funds are raised, they will be disbursed accordingly, not maintained as an endowment fund. The intent of this scholarship is to help individuals further their education after high school with an emphasis toward their willingness to serve God through their faith, family, and vocation. A scholarship committee will review, and select recipient/s. Recipients will be asked to communicate with the Countryside Disciples Women once the semester/quarter/program begins in order to let donors know how the recipient is doing and if appropriate how/what the recipient is learning about God's intention for their life.

The criteria for consideration include:

- A female recipient is preferred to best reflect the values of our foremothers, but it does not rule out the possibility of an appropriate male recipient.
- Relationship to Countryside Christian Church (Disciples of Christ): member, relative of member, friend of member, or member of the community near Countryside Christian Church and have participated in church activities.
- Ability to demonstrate her/his care and concern for community, faith and desire to further her/his education.
- Successful completion of high school or GED.
- Acceptance at an institution of higher education; whether seeking a degree, continuing education required for vocation, or specialized vocational training.
- Applications are open to full-time or part-time learners.
- Completed applications will be shared with scholarship committee and various groups in the church to enhance their support of both your success and our scholarship program.
